changing and continuously evolving profession. As our professional organization, ALA has a duty to equip libraries and library professionals with the tools, training, mentoring, and support necessary to thrive in this environment. Over the last nine years, I have built a strong record of involvement in the Association, through service as an ALA Councilor-at-Large, committee membership, and positions within several divisions and round tables. I will strive to ensure the Executive Board represents the desires and diverse points of view of all ALA members. I have a strong commitment to the goal of a more diverse profession that includes those from under-represented groups, and am a strong proponent of library advocacy on local, state, and national levels. My experience within the Association, combined with my desire to make ALA a member-driven and diverse organization, are assets that I will bring to the Executive Board.
